

Business Formation

There are a variety of considerations to make when establishing a business. Our attorneys help guide clients through the entity formation process to ensure that they have the structure that best suits their needs and protects their interests.

Common considerations when forming a business:

- Does it make sense to form a limited liability company or to incorporate?
- How is the company going to be capitalized?
- Will capitalization require loans from banks or other lenders?
- How does an established company raise more capital?
- Do we need an exit strategy or succession plan?

Our business formation services include:

- Formation of Cooperatives, Corporations, Limited Liability Companies (LLCs), Limited Liability Partnerships (LLPs), Non-profit organizations (NPOs), Partnerships, S-Corporations, Sole Proprietorships, and Subsidiaries
- Business Filings
- Capital Distribution Structures
- Counseling and Advice
- Drafting and Review of Documents
- Franchise and Franchisee Agreements
- Joint Ventures
- Research
- Succession Planning and Exit Strategies
- Tax Planning

PROFESSIONALS

Matthew W. Barnes
Howard E. Bogard
Christian W. Borek
Edward H. Brown
Joshua A. Ehrenfeld
Tully D. Hazell
Chester "Chet" J. Hosch
Nicole Keefe
William M. Lawrence
Robert C. Matthews
George E. Morrison
Norman M. Orr
Jonathan H. Plott
Michele Reddick
Ty G. Roofner
"Madeleine Maury" Downing Sherman
Bradley C. Skidmore
George M. Taylor, III
Callie Sullins Whatley

RELATED AREAS

Commercial & Corporate Finance
Corporate Law
Mergers & Acquisitions
Succession Planning
Tax Law

Business Formation

Publications

- “Charleston Reboot: a Historic City Now Driven by Innovation,” Charleston Business Magazine Firm News, 10.05.2022