

Ed Christian Featured in Birmingham Business Journal on the Expansion of Birmingham Law Firms Outside of the Magic City

Firm News

03.05.2018

In an article published March 2, 2018 in the Birmingham Business Journal, Ed Christian provides insight on Birmingham law firms and a recent trend to expand outside of the city to thrive not only locally, but regionally as well. While some fields of work have been impacted by bank acquisitions and consolidations, he hasn't seen an impact on client demand in the area of law "I don't know if there's less demand in Birmingham," Ed Christian said. "Birmingham, for a city its size, has a very strong and thriving legal community." For the full article, subscribers to the Birmingham Business Journal may click here.
