McNair Law Firm is pleased to be recognized as one of the best economic development law firms in the south by Southern Business & Development. Selections were made by the Southern Economic Development Roundtable, an elite group of top economic development minds in the South.

McNair represents businesses throughout the United States and the world in locating in South Carolina. The firm advises multinational corporations locating their U.S. headquarters and manufacturing facilities in the state to local businesses seeking to grow here.

As South Carolina's reputation has grown as a leader in foreign investment, so, too, has McNair in the breadth of its experience in advising economic development clients. We regularly advise our economic development clients on corporate structuring, site selection, permitting and regulatory issues, real estate acquisition and finance, building construction, employment law, federal and state taxes, and immigration. McNair also advises clients on economic development incentives, including negotiation and implementation of these incentives.

Please contact Erik Doerring, McNair's economic development team leader, if your business would like to discuss an upcoming project.
